I have served as a neutral since 2011 to the present time. I have mediated a few hundred civil cases. I have rendered my mediation services as a part of my pro bono services to the public to mediate limited civil cases, small claims, and civil harassment under the court-annexed programs in Orange County. I have also mediated approximately unlimited and complex civil cases as a private neutral affiliated with ADR Services, Inc. I have served as an adjunct professor at Trinity Law School in Santa Ana since 2013 to the present time. I am responsible for:

Teaching students ADR(Alternative Dispute Resolution) laws and practice as a problem-solving and peacemaking tool; Training students to act as third-party neutrals to help the disputants to facilitate a resolution of their conflicts before or after the lawsuit filed; Establishing an on-campus Mediation Clinic; Coordinating with various stakeholders such as Orange County Superior Court, Community Service Program and Orange County Human Relations to implement the court-connected mediation clinic, and; Supervising a selective group of students to mediate the real lawsuits at the court sites.
